Letter From Brother Elsom.

(To the Editor of the Interior Journal)
RICHMOND, VA., July 23.—Here we are safe and sound in Richmond, the grand old capital of our native State, Virginia!

There are just scores of kind, nice people in Stanford, Mr. Eliot, to whom I'd like to write the above statement, but to do it would turn my vacation into a "feast" (?) of pen and ink, so to reach the eye of all quickly and nicely I use the columns of your deservedly popular paper.

Under blazing sun, Monday, 18th, the train moved off from Stanford with this humble scribe, his "better half" and an energetic young American, known to the Stanford boys and girls as "Hawthorne." We were breathing benediction and blessings on a kind, loving church and people for voting us four or five weeks' rest. Quite a number came to the train with us and as "good-bye" was said one of the "salt of the earth" deposited a nice "favor" in our hand in the way of a present. Bro. Barnes is right when he says "Praise the Lord" for such people! Our departure was like the description in Acts of Paul's leave of his Epesian people at Miletus, with just two slight corrections: 1st, I wasn't Paul; 2d, we were not taking a ship.

At Junction City I grasped the hand of Bro. J. M. Hall with sincere delight. He had been over to Somerset to organize a new bank. He has already made sure his stock in the heavenly world and now on terra firma he is doing all the good he can, together with several others of his goodly name. Bro. J. T. Barrett's friendly greeting was also pleasant to me. He said he had an hour's talk for me, but I made a modest remark that I had heard of people dying by an overdose of tongue during July and August and the young man "boiled beautifully down" and even promised to preach for one Sunday, if possible, during my absence. Thence we rolled on thro' the world's paradise—I mean that country to Lexington. What a bridge that High Bridge is! What scenery it spans! What a silent reminder of man's ingenuity it is!

At the depot at Lexington while scambling around to find a shady spot, I ran up on a man who said, "Excuse me, sir, are you not a preacher?" 'Twas refreshing to hear that man say that—so often have I been taken for drummers, hardware men, insurance agents, etc., that the remark of the man had a reviving, electric effect. I told him of the good town of Stanford, from which I came, and then he told me my name and some kind things he had heard away at Covington, Ky., about me and my church. Mr. Bristol is his name and we shall not soon forget his kindness.

Of the lovely city of Lexington I need not write. We stopped at the Ashland House and greatly enjoyed strolling 'round, especially through the beautiful cemetery. In silent admiration we gazed on the lofty monument of Henry Clay, which ambitiously tries to kiss the skies in perpetuating the fame and fame of its illustrious dead. No aspiring young man can stand by that tall shaft and not have some of the inspiration of the lines:

"Lives of great men all remind us,
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us,
Footprints on the sands of time."

It is of course a nice thing to have your name carved on marble, but let mine be in the Lamb's Book of Life and in the hearts of men. No disrespect to Mr. Clay's monument, however.

How short a step it is from the sublime to the ridiculous, from the musings of the cemetery to the happenings of the street. A funny one of these last occurred in Lexington. Suddenly we heard a noise; all rushed into the street and with bated breath asked: "What's the matter?" Two milk wagons whose drivers were absent, hitched wheels and put off, the horses striking for liberty and causing a "boom"! Jno. Gilpin never created a bigger stir than did those wagons, reeling and bowing and rocking amid the burrah of the street crowds. With sails torn and masts broken they returned to the harbor. Truth is, Kentucky milk is too good to spill and that's why we had the Lexington stir.

As we rolled out of Lexington Monday night at 11 o'clock, Rev. W. J. E. Cox, a Virginia young preacher located in Georgetown, joined us en route for Richmond. We talked of the proposed College removal from Georgetown and he helped to enliven the moments.

Our first trip from Lexington, the pleasant day spent in Staunton, Va., and other great interesting matters I'll write in "Notes No. 2" next week. God bless, prosper and keep you all. With love for all,

Hastily and sincerely,

PERCY G. ELSOM

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF KENTUCKY.

CRAB ORCHARD, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—Mr. James H. Brown, of Lancaster, will speak here next Saturday.

—Died, on the 24th of this month, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Holman.

—A good rain fell here last Monday, which greatly revived suffering vegetation.

—The voters here are sanguinely confident that Dr. J. D. Pettus will win the legislative race by a very large majority.

—The interest and attendance at the Christian Sunday school is much increased since the appearance of the new organ.

—The Crab Orchard String Band, now thoroughly organized and under the leadership of Mr. D. C. Payne, is progressing admirably. It is composed of eight or nine members and is being taught by a member of the Springs band. We will expect a second soon.

—Miss Emma Smith, of Somerset, is the guest of Misses Emma and Maud Pettus. Mrs. S. Sawyer, and Mr. and Mrs. Catching, of London, are visiting Mr. Sam Hardin's family. Mrs. James Francis and sons, Mr. T. J. Francis and wife, of Birmingham, Alabama, and Mr. Will Francis, of Richmond, are visiting at Dr. Pettus'.

—Mr. M. D. Hughes, who is to teach the High School next session, will, we presume, do his part in opening a good school here.

Let our citizens thoroughly arouse themselves on the subject of education and lend their aid in this grand cause as far as lies in their power. In behalf of our citizens, we bespeak for Mr. Hughes a hearty, cordial welcome.

—Next Monday is the election, when it will be decided who will be our next legislator.

Let all good people go promptly to the polls and vote for the right man, Dr. J. D. Pettus. The people could not make better choice for the doctor is a thorough gentleman and well qualified to fill the legislative chair, being conscientious and upright in all his dealings with his fellowmen and exercising a calm and impartial judgment in all matters.

A STUDY IN PUNCTUATION.—A young man wrote thus to the object of his affection: "I love you not for your fortune—it is a consideration that could never influence me in choosing a wife." Being unfamiliar with the rules of punctuation, he awkwardly inserted a full stop after the words "I love you not," and the young lady, in her grief, despair and outraged feeling, entered a convent, while her lover, after waiting in vain for a reply to his letter, became the driver of a soda-pop wagon. This is a romance of the period, as it were, and shows, my dears, how necessary education is generally and the study of punctuation in particular is to the happiness of mankind.—[Chicago Tribune.]

Billy O'Bradley is a fraud. In 1869 he wanted to open his veins and release any blood of abolition flowing therein. He denounced those of his brother democrats who favored the admission of negro testimony in the courts as heretics, but behold, when the negro received the right of suffrage and Mr. Bradley wanted to be county attorney of Garrard, he experienced a change of heart and became a rampant republican. Billy O'Bradley has lost money, prestige and reputation because he is not an honest, upright, earnest politician.—[Concord Journal.]

A little Miteswan girl attends the Methodist church and is not familiar with the forms of service in the other churches. Not long ago she was present at a wedding in the Episcopal church and was very attentive. When she returned home she approached her mother and asked: "Mama, why did the man in the nightgown ask if he would promise to love cherries?" The mother explained that the clergyman had asked the groom if he would "promise to love, cherish," etc.

In the name of the National Democratic party we beg every Kentucky Democrat to vote, to permit nothing to prevent the discharge of this high civic duty.

We entrust our comrades not to throw their votes away, every vote cast for Judge Fox or the ticket nominated at Langrange is a vote wasted so far as practical result is concerned, but every vote taken from Buckner will be claimed as evidence that our party is diminishing or as a personal reflection upon our superb leader. We can confidently assure you that the organization of the party is vigorous and effective; from every section comes the same report; everywhere there is resolute and even enthusiasm determination to achieve such a victory as will render future contests unnecessary. Increased majorities are promised by the committees in every county. During the remaining days of the canvass we urge that public meetings be held in every precinct. We know whereof we speak—our victory is already gloriously won. The actual vote will be larger than ever before; the relative vote greater. Everywhere has our noble leader been received with enthusiasm; everywhere has he won the love of the people.

And as your servants, charged by your order with the management of this campaign, we entreat you to aid us to make this year illustrious by the utter and humiliating overthrow of that party, whose best claim to power is false shame of our common mother, and whose sole argument has been to belittle and disparage her.

Meet in your precincts and perfect such an organization as will bring out the vote; provide means to have the aged and infirm carried to the polls; see the wavering and encourage them, and be present at the opening of the poll in your precinct. Keep Kentucky at the very head of the democratic States and win once more the plaudits and confidence of our comrades of the Nation.

S. G. Sharp, Chm'; P. P. Johnston, J. R. Allen, M. C. Alford, R. S. Bullock, H. C. Clay, Secy., Lexington; Alvin Duval, L. Tobin, Frankfort; Chas. R. Long, W. B. Hulme, Louisville.

Max Well is the richest Jew in New York, his figure being estimated at $8,000,000. Following him are 40 other millionaires of the same race. The Hebrew capitalist in the cotton exchange is over $6,000,000, and of city real estate they hold at least $100,000,000. An estimate of the annual transactions of the wholesale trade of New York done by the Hebrews put the figures at $200,000,000.

A paper, in speaking of a beautiful lady of large proportions, should have said, "Mrs. Smith possessed a form that Juno might envy." The editor went home and left a subordinate to get out the paper, and the next morning he read that "Mrs. Smith possessed a form that Juno might envy."

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF KENTUCKY.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

—Hot again and no news.

—Every democrat in the 17th Senatorial district should vote for A. Y. Culon for the Senate.

—Miss Lizzie Faris is reported seriously ill of typhoid fever. Uncle Peter Felton is sick again.

—Eliot G. A. Denham, Judge Simpson, and other prominent Williamsburgers were in town during the week.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Catching have returned from a visit to Dayton, Kentucky, accompanied by Mrs. Catching's sister, Mrs. J. A. Sawyer, of that place. Mr. R. M. Jackson and party, consisting of his wife, sister and sister-in-law, and Mr. C. M. Bandall have returned from a camping tour up the Cumberland.

—The Hon. Asher G. Garth, Congressman from the metropolitan district, and one of the ablest young men in the country, is to be a speaker here Friday in the interest of good government. Col. Swope, Judge Finley and other great men have been prevailed upon by republicans to conduct a "grand rally" for them on the same day. There is pretty apt to be some lively skirmishing, in which the rads are sure to be downed as usual.

—Republican delegation from every county in this Senatorial district, saving Bell, were in secret conclave here Monday considering the advisability of pulling Paul off and substituting a better man. Several of our statesmen made determined efforts to get an endorsement for the position laboring so hard all day, notwithstanding early in the morning Paul gave them emphatically to understand that he had come to stay and would run the race through. This man Paul has proven a miserable investment for the republicans, many of the best men in the party refusing to support him on account of his loose morals, or rather his lack of morals. Squire Barton H. Baker, an accommodating republican, believing evidently that his time had come, mounted the prohibition hobby and hopes to ride into the Senate. But A. Y. Culon, of Knox, the democratic candidate, seems to have the thing in a sling and will certainly be elected if democrats do their duty, which we cannot think they will fail to do.

—Brother Triplett Doing Well in the South.

[To the Editor of the Interior Journal.]

UNIONTOWN, ALA., July 20.—Thinking that some of my friends in Lincoln county might desire to know how I like the South and how I am succeeding in my Master's work, I have concluded to write you a very brief letter for your excellent paper.

I am delighted with the people, climate and country. We have an intelligent, generous and hospitable people. Within 50 miles of our town we have two universities,

3 colleges and 6 female seminaries, all good schools and well patronized. Our land is very similar in kind and quality to the blue grass of Kentucky, having been originally a canebrake country. Cotton, corn and oats are the principal crops. Cotton is the main crop although an abundance of corn is raised to meet all demand for it.

This is a fine country for an active young farmer who has only a small capital. Land can be purchased at $10 to $30 now, which could not have been purchased for less than $50 to $80 per acre before the war. It is true the land has in most cases been badly farmed, having been rented by negroes, who do all the farming nearly and hence it has deteriorated in quality.

But it still produces well and can be readily improved. Every energetic young man who has come here and gone to farming has accumulated money. The winters are short and the stock live and get fat on cane and cotton pods. There are four negroes to one white man in this Congressional district, but a good democrat, a member of my congregation, represents the district in Congress. The State is rapidly increasing in population and seems destined to become a great State.

My labors have been greatly blessed since

I have been here. I have received 42 members into my church, 36 of them on profession and 6 by letter. I have also raised money and built a church that cost

$2,000 in a village 5 miles from here and a church has been organized there with 24 members and $400 raised to employ a minister for two Sabaths each month. We expended $2,000 on our church edifice last year and will spend $2,500 more this year.

My congregation has been exceedingly kind to myself and family. If any one who reads this letter desires any information concerning this country and will write to me I will take great pleasure in furnishing it to him. And if any of my friends come near me in their travels I will always be glad to see them at the manse and share our hospitality with them. Yours very truly,

J. E. TRIPLETT

W. P. WALTON.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR—SIMON BOLIVAR BUCKNER, of Hart County.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR—JAMES W. BRYAN, of Kenton county.

ATTORNEY GENERAL—P. W. HARDIN, of Mercer county.

AUDITOR—FAYETTE HEWITT, of Hardin county.

TREASURER—JAMES W. TATE, of Woodford county.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION—JOSEPH DESHA PICKETT, of Fayette county.

REGISTER OF THE LAND OFFICE—THOMAS H. CORBETT, of McCracken county.

LEGISLATURE—Dr. J. D. PETTUS, Lincoln county.

BABBITT is a very thin demagogue and it is a wonder that men with the least common sense can be humbugged by him. As two-faced as old Janus himself and glorying in his ability to hoodwink the unwary, he prosecutes his canvass in any unscrupulous manner that he chooses and states himself that "though charged with nearly every crime in the catalogue and proved guilty of most of them," the people will vote for him. He poses as the friend of the poor man and yet when appealed to to have a law passed which would do them but simple justice, he refuses to do so. We refer to paying men for working the county roads. Poor men, who use these roads least, have to give their time and labor to keep them up, and yet Babbitt, when appealed to to give them relief, says there is no money to pay for working the roads, as if there would be money for any public purpose unless raised by taxation. It would not increase the poll tax, but be collected from property, as it should be.

He refused to procure an enabling act for a turnpike running to the Palacki line from Halle Gap, because he was afraid he would lose some votes in the more favored part of the county. All the turnpikes have been built in this section and the people of the knob portion, while contributing to pay for them, have never themselves been given a show for good roads. And yet Babbitt claims he will carry Highland and Waynesburg practically solid. He will not, however, if the people have any resentment or are able to lift the wool off their eyes that he has pulled over them.

Pledged to oppose a whipping-post bill, he worked and spoke for the passage of such a law and then voted against it himself. He did this on several questions and his whole course at Frankfort was characterized by double dealing and downright trickery, as has been his entire life. The people have a chance to place the finger of scorn upon this pretentious but gauzy demagogue and send a man to represent them at Frankfort who is the soul of honor and can be trusted to do as he promises. The proud old county of Lincoln should not disgrace herself again by electing to the legislature a man who was the laughing-stock of the body, absolutely without weight or influence. Dr. Pettus is in every way worthy of your vote. Be a man and cast it for him.

The sudden death of Dr. E. D. Standiford, the Louisville millionaire and philanthropist, which occurred Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock, removes from the sphere of action a most successful business man and public spirited citizen, one who loved his native State and who had done so much to develop her material and commercial interests. As a physician, as a business man, as a railroad president and as a politician he was eminently successful and Louisville especially and the whole State generally will miss him sadly. To his energy and excellent management the L. & N. railroad owes much of its prosperity and success, as he did more during his incumbency of the presidency to put it on a firm financial basis than any other one man. Filled with an ambition to serve his State in the National Senate and having just taken to himself a bride in the person of Miss Loren Scott, of Paducah, his death at this time is particularly sad, if not in the nature of a calamity. Dr. Standiford was born in 1831, near Louisville, was three times married, seven children resulting from the first and second marriages. He had recently signified his intention of donating 140 acres of land to the city of Louisville, but had not made the transfer. His estate is valued at $2,000,000.

AFTER Bradley's canvass of misrepresentation and falsehood, we take it that no democrat who is worthy of the name will vote for him, yet there are those who contemplate aiding him indirectly by voting for Fox. Recollect that every democrat who votes for Fox takes one from General Buckner and reduces his plurality that much. Vote for prohibition as much as you want as a separate issue, but for God's sake do not play into the hands of the republican enemy by casting your suffrage for a man who is absolutely not in the race save as an ally to that enemy.

If gratifying to know that no democratic circuit judge has followed the example of Judge T. Z. Morrow and engaged in stamp-speaking during the present campaign. [Courier-Journal] As the judge was taken violently sick after his Leitchfield performance, Providence itself seemed desirous of teaching him that it does not comport with the dignity of a judge's office to go galloping over the State making political speeches, even for a brother-in-law.

THE Ohio republicans are in the throes of nominating a State ticket.

THE contrast between the characters of Gen. Buckner and "Col." Bradley are more decidedly marked perhaps than those of any two men who were ever put up for the votes of the people. The former born and bred a gentleman with the high sense of honor inherent thereto, and which the training of a soldier brings into bolder relief, is indeed a man among men, noble, brave and chivalrous. The latter—well you can't make a silk dress out of a sow's ear, and the less said about Bradley's qualities, save a certain smartness and gift of the gab, the better. He does not compare in any sense with the Hero of Fort Donelson, who will make Kentucky a governor, worthy of the position and fill it with distinguished ability and dignity. Vote for him and the rest of the admirable ticket which heads this page.

PROHIBITION can never cut any part in politics. Like the Know Nothings, the Granger and other evanescent issues, the very nature of it must make it short-lived. No democrat who is worthy of the name will be led off by such questions. Vote the straight democratic ticket and you will never regret it.

As usual Gov. McCreary has been doing yeoman service for the party during the canvass. He offered his services to the State Central Committee at its opening and has made dozens of speeches since. The governor can always be relied on to aid his party in any honorable way whatever.

WOLFE COUNTY, which had a hanging in 1855, is preparing for another. James Buchanan has just been convicted of the murder of James Ross and the penalty fixed at death. The victim was an old man of 60, while the condemned is but 25, and the murder was most unprovoked.

A GENTLEMAN at Pineville writes us that Paul will certainly be defeated for the Senate in that district. If the half that is told of him be true, he is not a fit man for any office of honor or trust and we hope our Pineville correspondent speaks by the card.

YOUNG MAN, you may want some office yourself some time. You cannot expect a party to honor you unless you have been tried to it. Don't scratch your ticket then, but vote it through from Buckner to Pettus.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

Gen. Cumley, a noted Ohio editor, is dead.

A Madison county woman named her twin Buckner and Bradley.

A cyclone in the Bay of Bengal caused the loss of a steamer with 800 souls on board.

The National Bank of Commerce, with $2,000,000 capital, is about to begin business at Kansas City.

The soap and candle factory of Fabel & Sons, Louisville, burned Wednesday afternoon; loss $27,000; insured.

The Maryland State democratic convention nominated Elihu E. Jackson for governor and endorsed Cleveland.

The President is going to the St. Louis Fair, from which the grand army assess cannot keep him by threats of insult.

The Times office, owned by Editor Jno. A. Bell, and numerous other business houses burned at Georgetown; loss $40,000.

Armour's beef-house at the Chicago stock-yards burned Wednesday evening. Loss about $300,000; insurance $105,000.

Attorney General Hardin has made a thorough canvass of the State and predicts a plurality of 50,000 for the democratic ticket.

The new two dollar silver certificates, with Hancock vignette, are being raised and circulated in Chicago as ten-dollar certificates.

Mrs. Richard Greenlaw, of Memphis, gave birth to four children Sunday night, all of them remarkably healthy and well developed.

A whirlwind that passed over Latonia, Wednesday evening did damage to the buildings of the Jockey Club to the extent of $10,000.

Benben Cole, who committed the brutal assault upon Mrs. Richard Savage, at Petersburg, Va., was taken from the jail by a mob and hanged.

A washout occurred on the Erie road, two miles west of Cohocton, N. Y. Twenty-one cans of cheese went down the bank and were totally wrecked.

Green Mannin, one of the Tolliver gang, of Morehead, was arrested at Mt. Sterling and is held for complicity in the murder of the Logan boys.

John Neaves, living in Bracken county, shot and killed his father, Joseph Neaver, Wednesday, because the latter had made a will disinheriting him and refused to destroy it on demand from the son.

For the fiscal year ending July 1 collections of internal revenue amounted to $118,835,757, of which Illinois paid $24,875,795, a sum greater than any other State. Ohio comes next, with $15,896,795. New York is third with $15,101,203 and Kentucky is fourth with $12,417,520.

Two young mulattoes, accompanied by two white girls from Bracken county, applied to the clerk of the Mason county court for license permitting them to marry and were refused. Going across the Ohio to Aberdeen they sought the services of Squire Beasley, the chief of that Gretna Green, and he also declined to perform the desired ceremony.

Two colored gentlemen whose honor had been wounded settled their little differences by the code at Greenwood, Miss. Shot guns were the weapons and two paces the distance. When the men faced each other the muzzles of their guns almost touched. Both fired at the word, and one of them fell dead, his breast torn to pieces; the other received fatal wounds.

THE Ohio republicans are in the throes of nominating a State ticket.

DRIPPING SPRINGS.

—Chuck full is the condition of our house now. Every available space is occupied, but as some are leaving every day, it gives room for new arrivals. Come along, all who wish to do so, and we will arrange some way to take care of you. We have plenty of cots and extra beds and we pack them like sardines in a box, when it becomes necessary, and they never kick or grumble. There have been 98 arrivals since the 18th of this month; more to follow to day and to morrow.

Everybody is jolly and happy. Among our guests are three prominent physicians, two of whom have their families here for their health. The third, who is a bachelor, is more than likely to soon have a family by his visit here. A certain nice young widow can give you more information on this subject.

Saturday, July 30th, the Banquet and Masque Ball comes off. We still have plenty to eat. Respectfully, D. G. SLAUGHTER.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Mrs. Henry G. Sandifer and children are visiting relatives in Greenburg.

—Messrs. George Bonta and Thomas Alexander have bought out J. C. Masonheimer's grocery and continue the business at the old stand.

—Mr. Frank Deckert, of Louisville, is in town for the purpose of establishing an agency for the Louisville Commercial and for working up generally an interest in that excellent newspaper.

—Mrs. Nevins, wife of C. L. Nevins, died at the residence north of town Tuesday. She had been ill for a long time of cancer of the stomach and was much emaciated at the time of her death.

—Hon. Wm. Lindsay, of Frankfort, will address the democracy of Boyle county at Danville, on Friday at 8 P. M., and at Perryville on Saturday at 10 o'clock A. M. Judge Lindsay is a fine speaker, an old time democrat and an elegant gentleman and he will doubtless have large audiences at both appointments.

—Messrs. P. A. Marks, Sam F. Maguire, P. H. Idol, B. J. Durham, George Smith, Brod Manwarring, Mal Peters and Robert Dunn, of Central Lodge No. 8, I. O. O. F. went to Lexington on Tuesday, to meet Grand Master R. G. Elliott and to be instructed in the new work of the encampment branch of the order.

—Mr. William Briggs, the poet laureate of Danville, is said to be engaged in the composition of a grand epic poem. The subject has not yet been made known, but the poem when completed will not disappoint the expectations of those who are enthusiastic over the lines commemorative of the fact that others than the rich and great can by their own efforts arrive at the goal of their ambition.

—Messrs. J. W. Osburn and C. O. Graves, of Georgetown, passed through town Wednesday on bicycles, taking dinner at the Gilcher House now kept by J. C. Rardin. Capt. A. S. McGrory has returned from Ocean Grove, N. J., where he took his daughter, Miss Mary, who expects to remain during the warm weather. Prof. O. Beatty and his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Quisenberry left on Wednesday for Lake Chautauqua.

—Sam Adler, a well informed man in regard to turf matters, and all other matters of importance, expressed himself Wednesday night in front of the Woodbine Restaurant very enthusiastically in favor of Gen. Buckner for governor. "What's the matter with Fox?" asked Johnson. "He's too much of a water fountain," responded Adler. Johnson looked serious for a few periods and then he set 'em up.

MARRIAGES.

—On the 27th at John McKinney's, James A. Hunt to Miss Barbara McKinney.

—Yesterday at the home of the bride's father, William Griffin, Robert Turner and Maggie Griffin were united in marriage.

RELIGIOUS.

—Brother Barnes is stirring up the sensations here. [Winchester Sun.]

—Of the 311 religious papers in the United States, 231 are Protestant and 40 are Catholic.

—The Deering Camp Meeting will begin August 4th and continue to the 15th. Rev. H. C. Morrison will be one of the numerous preachers.

—The whole number of churches in the United States is 132,435; the whole number of ministers 91,811; and of communicants 19,018,977.

—There are now over 1,000 Young Men's Christian Associations in this country, with a membership of 140,000, expending for Christian work $785,000. The aggregate of property in buildings, libraries, etc., is over $5,000,000.—[Public Opinion.]

—The late William Glenn, a wealthy merchant of Cincinnati, bequeathed $37,000 for religious and educational purposes. To the Ohio Wesleyan University, Wesleyan Female College of Cincinnati and St. Paul Methodist church of the same city he gave $7,000, these being his largest bequests.

—Forty-eight horses and the stables of a street car line were burned in New York.

—By the collision of a freight and construction train on the Chicago & Alton near Bloomington, Ind., 22 workmen were killed.

—President Cleveland has accepted the invitation of the citizens of Kansas City to visit that city some time between October 1 and 15.

—R. P. Clement, President of the Citizens Savings Bank of Leavenworth, Kas., has absconded and is $50,000 short, and the bank has assigned.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Mr. John Perkins and Mrs. Mary Conn, of Brodhead, were here Wednesday.

—I have just purchased from a Philadelphia house the largest and best lot of clothing ever brought to Mt. Vernon. Shipments will arrive about August 10th. See them before buying, it will pay you.

F. L. Thompson.

—No further trouble is reported from last week's seat of war at Brush Creek.

All the parties concerned have resumed their usual avocations and everything is quiet at present, though trouble is looked for at any time between the parties who had a pitched battle, a few days since, at the above place.

—Mrs. James Brown, of Louisville, is visiting Miss Ida Adams. A nine and a half pound girl secured board at the house of Casper Williams Wednesday morning.

All doing well. M. C. Miller, Jr., assistant depot agent, is out again after a week's illness. William Henderson and wife are visiting Crab Orchard.

—Finley in a conversation here Saturday said the "bone and sinew" of the democratic party in Williamsburg and vicinity would vote for Bradley. Probably he knows the people at his place better than the writer, but until the vote is counted our doubts will override belief in the accuracy of the gentleman's statements.

—The republicans are hard up for campaign capital when they try to make voters believe Mr. Webb was in the rebel army during the late war, when in fact he was an eleven-year-old boy and was away in Germany during that period of unpleasantry.

Then they charge that the democrats are running him and they are trying to get a portion of the labor vote turned by this means to Ward. The democrats put out no candidate, but if they vote for any candidate it will not be the republican and they may as well keep their memories refreshed with that fact.

—One of the residents of this vicinity took it into his head a few nights since to dream and this is what he got off: "It appeared that Mr. Ward, the republican candidate for the legislature, was passing a large lake and seeing a great number of Webb footed ducks swimming on the surface thereof was suddenly impressed with the idea that they were the traditional Ward's ducks that had disappeared years ago, said to have gone adrift. In attempting to capture them he was overwhelmed and drowned," as he will probably be next Monday by the large number of votes cast against him.

—The republicans of this legislative district, composed of this and Laurel counties, must surely be frightened by the labor candidate, Webb, from the way they are stirring around and circulating statements for campaign purposes. Monday Mr. Webb had an appointment to speak here at one o'clock. After a speech of an hour and a half he closed supposing he would be followed by Mr. W. R. Ramsey or one of the other candidates for the legislature. To the surprise of the audience the Hon. H. F. Finley, M. C. elect from the 11th district, stepped forward and delivered a sermon of two hours length, replete with abuse of the State administration and the democratic party with the usual rag accompaniment of redish hue. He pitched into the Cleveland administration and the democratic Congress for not abolishing or reducing the tax on tobacco and whisky and leaving off the agitation of the tariff question. In a conversation afterwards he admitted that the republican counties were a greater cost to the State in criminal prosecutions than democratic counties but tried to make it appear that the Governor and State officers were to blame for it in not doing their duty in many ways, mentioning one in particular that the Governor refused to furnish him troops to uphold him in holding his courts, simply because he (Finley) was a republican. He dwelt on the subject of the beauties and advantages of high tariff for protection and favored Federal aid for educational purposes, and abused the democratic party for their failure to allow the Blair bill to become a law. In his speech he said he would rather be caught with his arm in a steel-trap up to his shoulder in some man's corn crib, than to be seen to walk up to the polls and vote for Watt Hardin. One of the audience remarked,

"It depends a great deal upon how a man is raised as to his tastes." He said the Courier-Journal had injured that portion of the State greatly by reporting and exposing the lawlessness of that region, claiming that it has driven away American capital from being invested in that part of the country and as a result the larger portion of extensive tracts of coal and timber lands have been bought and are now owned by English and foreign capitalists instead of Kentuckians and Americans. This state of affairs he charges to the democratic party and officials, taking no part of the responsibility on his party or people for the lawlessness that has and still exists in that portion of the mountains, which he claims has kept out American capitalists who would have invested there had the condition of things been otherwise. Claiming so much for the republican party and having full sway in that part of the State for years he fails to give a plausible reason why the affairs of his and adjoining counties are not as law abiding and enterprising as their neighboring counties that are under democratic rule. Any and everything that has gone wrong, no matter whether in democratic or republican counties, he charged it to the opponents of the republicans. In fact he thinks it impossible for republicans to do anything wrong.

LOCAL MATTERS.

THE Commercial Hotel, Louisville, Ky., has reduced its rates to $1.00 per day.

THE Good Templars will elect officers tonight and a full attendance of the members is requested. W. R. Veach, Sec'y.

We have placed all of our notes and accounts in the hands of W. A. Tribble for collection, so please call on him and settle our debts.

THE SULTAN'S GIFT.—New comic opera at Opera House Harrodsburg, August 2 and 4. Reserved seats 75 cents. Apply to Walter & Wood.

FAIR.—Visitors should remember that they can get comfortable quarters, good fare and excellent attention at Hale's Well, A. L. Spoonamore.

I AGAIN ask my customers to come and settle their accounts. I need the money I mean all, not one. Please attend to this. Mr. Kate Dudderar.

OUR namesakes, the INTERIOR JOURNAL base ball club, played the Lancaster club Tuesday afternoon on the grounds of the latter and were defeated by a score of 7 to 4. Eleven innings were played.

In addition to those recently mentioned, the following have arrived at Hale's Well: Squire Murphy, Mrs. Nora Goodnight, Miss Mary Peyton, Miss Samantha Logan, Mrs. Dr. J. G. Carpenter and children.

It looks like Pettus will now Bobbitt under by several hundred majority. The leading republicans are dead down on Bobbitt, and while they intend to "hand off," will vote and work for his defeat if necessary.

A DISPATCH from the patent office at Washington says that Ephraim P. Owings of Stanford, has been granted letters for a minnow boat. We had not heard that Eph had turned inventor.

BEAUTIFUL line of Glassware just received at A. A. Warren's.

PLEASE call and settle your accounts we need the money. Metcalf & Foster.

THE editor has been very sick since Wednesday, but that and hardly anything else can keep the paper from coming out on time.

THE State Central Committee issues an address to the voters of Kentucky, which will be found on our first page. We commend its verus and then a faithful compliance with its appeal.

THE Building Association elected A. A. Warren Secretary in the place of W. M. Bright, who found that its duties would interfere with his bank business. He will qualify as treasurer however.

DR. PETTUS is an honorable man, who would not take a mean advantage of an opponent. He is the regular democratic nominee and as such is entitled to your votes. Be sure to cast them for him.

DEMOCRATS, this is no time to desert your party. You can be as good a prohibitionist, and better, within than without its ranks. Stick to the old ship and vote the democratic ticket early next Monday morning.

A big feature of the Jennie Holman company is its brass band and orchestra. The street serenades are very fine and the music in the Opera House is always received with applause. The "Force in the Forest" was splendidly given Tuesday night and it was decidedly unique and realistic.

THE State Central Committee offered to send Judge William Lindsey here to day to make a speech for the democratic ticket, but owing to the fair being in progress it was declined. It would have been gladly accepted for to morrow but the Judge had an engagement elsewhere.

THE Holman troupe are composed of nice, quiet ladies and gentlemen, who have won many expressions of good will during their stay here. Manager Otto H. Krause and El G. Burne, advance agent, are not only well fitted for their business, but are excellent actors besides. We commend the troupe to managers and the public everywhere.

SPEAKING.—Mr. R. C. Warren spoke to a fair audience at McKinney Wednesday afternoon and the boys were so much pleased they insisted that he should come again Saturday night, 30th, when they promise him the largest crowd ever assembled there. He also speaks at King's Mountain at 1 o'clock Saturday and at McKinney at night. Let every voter turn out and hear him.

THE Eighth District Lodge of Good Templars met at Old Fellow's Hall here Tuesday. There were 21 delegates in attendance and five counties were represented. Judge T. M. Cardwell and numerous others from Harrodsburg were on hand and the meeting was quite pleasant, notwithstanding the date. The next meeting will be held at Birgins September 21 and 31.

THE Chesapeake & Ohio railroad announces its annual excursion to the sea-shore to leave Lexington August 4th at 2:30 P. M. Fare for the round-trip from Lexington and as far up as E. K. Junction $10. Passengers can leave here on the regular K. C. train on that day and make ample connection. This is the cheapest rate ever offered and ought to induce thousands to make the trip, which cannot be excelled in beauty of scenery and wealth of attractions.

CURRENT INTEREST.

THERE are in the United States more than one hundred miles of cable railway in operation, and there are upwards of fifty miles being built.

The phrase "fast and loose" comes from an old jugglers' trick employed at country fairs. "To play at fast and loose" was to play this game, in which, after both ends of a string seemed securely fastened, the juggler suddenly slipped it away.

Those versed in palmistry and capable of discerning characteristics by the formation of the hands, say that imaginative people have beautiful finger nails and long taper fingers, and that small, well shaped nails indicate a good-natured critic.

The new Croton aqueduct in New York will be the longest tunnel in the world. It will be thirty miles long and sixteen feet in diameter. In Schemnitzi, Hungary, is one ranking next in magnitude, being over ten miles in length and a maximum diameter of nearly ten feet.

The report comes from San Francisco that the market is overburdened with marriageable young ladies awaiting the appearance of the right man. This is owing to no want of physical attraction or mental capability, but, sad to say, a prevailing ignorance of every thing pertaining to domestic economy.

PROSPECTORS in New Mexico recently unearthed evidences of ancient civilization while excavating in the foothills near Socorro. They found the remains of human beings and various articles indicating a Spanish occupancy previous to that of the later Indians.

A photograph that was very commonly seen twenty years ago was that of President Lincoln and his son Tad together looking at a large book upon the President's knee. The story of this picture is that while examining an album in a photographer's studio, the President was requested to remain quiet, and the picture was taken. This destroys the prevalent impression that the book in the picture was a bible, and the position a studied one.

ONLY three years ago some twenty young ladies of Massachusetts resolved themselves into a society with a constitution in which was graven the sentiment that marriage was slavery and men were a nuisance. In the short space of a year the pledge of this society was rent in twain, and to-day the organization is a legendary affair. Two thirds of the members embraced slavery and became possessed of the necessary nuisances.

TRUE HATRE, Ind., is possessed of a madstone which has been in use eighty years and has been applied to hundreds of persons who have been bitten by rabid animals, and it is said that no instance of death is recorded wherein this stone has failed to adhere to the flesh. In one case recently the stone adhered to a wound for fourteen hours, assuming a dark color after which it dropped off. It was then cleaned in sweet milk and applied to another wound, remaining ten hours.

On the last anniversary of the founding of Rome, the municipality of the city inaugurated a monumental column in honor of the illustrious astronomer, Galileo, before the palace of the French Embassy, in which he was imprisoned in 1632. The monument bears in Italian the inscription: "In the neighboring palace, belonging at the time to the Medici, was imprisoned Galileo, who was guilty of having seen the earth revolve around the sun. S. P. Q. R., 1887." The Syndic and the University of Rome were present in eminent representatives.

In the matter of pensions the members of the New York police force are particularly favored. The law provides that after twenty years' continuous service they may be retired on half pay. This gives six hundred dollars annually to patrolmen, eight hundred dollars to sergeants, and thirteen hundred and seventy-five dollars to captains. The law also says that no man shall be taken on the force who is under twenty-one or over thirty years of age. Hence, it follows that a great many men can apply for pensions when they are from forty-one to fifty years of age. If a man joins the force at twenty-one—and many do—he can retire at forty-one, before he has reached his prime, with an assured life income of six hundred dollars, and go into some other business.

In writing of large sums received by some New York men for their services in different capacities a journalist says that very ordinary men receive from five to eight thousand dollars a year. There are a score of New Yorkers receiving each as much per year as the President and hundreds who have a salary of from ten to twenty-five thousand dollars. The large salaries paid to ministers range from ten to twenty thousand; the prominent journalist from four to twenty thousand; the leading physicians from twenty-five to sixty thousand and the legal lights realize as high as one hundred thousand dollars a year.

In this connection it is stated that there are several horse-jockeys receiving from four to ten thousand per year for their services.

The chocolate and cocoa of commerce are the product of the cacao tree grown in the equatorial Pacific. It produces fruit and flowers throughout the year, the flowers growing in clusters and the fruit maturing for gathering in June and December. The fruit is described as resembling a "short thick cucumber five or six inches long and three and one-half inches in diameter and varies in color from bright red to yellow and purple, according to the season and contains beans the size of a sweet almond but thicker." From these beans chocolate and cocoa are prepared. The term cocoa is a corruption of cacao, but is more commonly used in commerce. Cacao, which is called by the Mexicans chocolate, has been used by them for ages as a beverage. Cocoa is used more in England than chocolate, it being a slightly different preparation from the kernels of the same tree.

The sad story of an old lady's violent death, and the almost human efforts of a noble dog to save her, was the substance of a recent letter from Portsmouth, N. H. The lady, accompanied by her dog, were walking upon a railroad when, unknown to the lady, who was very deaf, a train came down upon them. The dog heard the warning, however, and saw the danger. He seized his mistress by the gown and tried to draw her off the track. She turned, saw the danger, threw up her hands and fell fainting between the rails. Still the dog stuck to his purpose, and seizing her dress in his big teeth dragged her off the track so that only her feet lay across the rail. Before he could get her wholly clear, however, the train came rushing down, and she was ground beneath its wheels. The train was stopped and the dog was found faithfully guarding the mangled remains. A friend of the dead woman had to be sent for before he would allow any one to approach.

THE GRANGERS' GRIST.

An experimenter in the growth of corn has attained almost perfection and a yield of eighty bushels to the acre through cutting out the tassels of stalks producing no ears.

ANY obtainable plaster about the premises may be advantageously used in the composition of a fertilizer for all crops, and as a disinfectant about the poultry house.

An emulsion of kerosene oil and water sprayed on will destroy the apple aphids. This insect appears unmercifully and in great numbers, and therefore the material for its destruction should be ready at hand.

In warm weather the sheep and cattle in the pasture eagerly seek any available shade. This fact should induce the planting of a few shade trees of rapid growth, such as the silver maple, the elm or any of the broad poplars.

THE best known device for the prevention of self-milking by cows is the old-fashioned neck rack. This consists of two square frames placed around the neck, and connected with each other at the four corners by live sticks, which keep them about a foot apart.

INFLAMMATION and swelling of the hock joint occasioned by a sprain should be treated to a cold bath frequently every day. It takes considerable time to reduce the swelling, and the horse so affected should be allowed ample room and time to recover.

PURE maple sugar has become a rarity in the market owing to the decreased demand brought about by the adulterated article that is commonly offered. It is safe to say that a pure article put up and sealed by makers in small tins would find ready purchasers everywhere.

THE symptoms of black leg in cattle are a lameness in the shoulders followed by swellings which extend to the brisket. This is a singularly rapid and fatal affection when it once gains headway. Upon its appearance in the herd laxative feed should be given, and half pound doses of sulphate of magnesia administered once or twice a week for a short time.

ANY farmer that feeds fifty tons of hay during the winter will find that the loss sustained through feeding from the stalk, will, in a few seasons, by constructing a cover for his hay. A substantial building that will shelter seventy-five tons of hay and fifty head of cattle can be put up for three hundred dollars. Such a structure will also add to the appearance and value of any farm.

ONE ounce of saltpeter to a gallon of water is effectually employed in the destruction of the squash root borer. Pour the solution on the soil about the plants soon after the young plants have come up, and repeat the operation two or three times after intervals of four or five days. This is a sure preventive. Some make the application only when the plants show signs, by wilting, of being attacked. The remedy is usually effective when thus employed, but it is better to use it in advance.

A CORRESPONDENT of a farm journal writes: Our practice is to cover the seed potatoes slightly with soil and then sow the fertilizer in the furrows or trenches. We have used as much as a ton of potato fertilizer—which is strong in potash—to the acre, and yet we harvested clean potatoes with smooth skins and without "scab." Not so when fresh farm manure is used. This with us always causes "scab" by attaching wire worms (Junus), which eat into the skin and give the potato the same corroded surface as the fungus causes."

NO POTATO is likely to be popular for market which has deep eyes. Whatever its excellence in other respects, this defect makes it less salable. There is not only a great loss in preparing such potatoes for cooking, but it is one of the most valuable part of the potato, which is near the skin. A smooth, even surface, with eyes deeply set, enables the housewife to pare the potatoes with little waste, and if combined with elongated shape to bake them unpeeled, which is perhaps the best way to cook this vegetable.

If you wish to have your young horses grow up hardy and able to endure severe tasks don't raise them as you do house plants. It is muscles and bone that are required to withstand hardships, and inactive colts never develop either like those which have the advantage of plenty of exercise every day. When too young to train the best way to develop their muscles is to give them the freedom of a field large enough for them to find room for romps and play. The restless spirit of a growing colt is guaranty enough that the exercise will be taken if the opportunity is only afforded. The colt raised in the stall or too small a lot is sure to be awkward and slothful, as well as soft and unfit to withstand hard usage.

A SOMEWHAT unique industry has appeared in the State of Michigan in the manufacture of a substitute for whalebone from goose quills. The quill is first run through the stripping machine and stripped of its plumage; second, it is run through the splitting machine, which splits the quill in two lengthwise; third, it is put through a machine which takes out the pith, to be used as a fertilizer; fourth, it is run in a machine which cuts it into fine shreds; fifth, several of these shreds are wound together by a machine which makes a strong cord; sixth, four of these cords are sewed together by another machine which makes it a flat featherbone and ready for use. It can be made in all colors, according to the color of the thread used.

ODD AND ENTERTAINING.

THE Queen of England is said to be a great amateur of music and a former pupil of Lablache who at one time said that, were she not Queen of Great Britain, she might be queen of song.

ON good authority it is stated that in the audiences attendant upon churches and operas from forty to fifty per cent. of the men are bald, while at prize fights and similar entertainments the percentage is only twelve to twenty-five.

ONE noticeable feature of a residence in the southern portions of California is the frequency with which straw matting is made to serve as carpet. The reason is that a woolen carpet catches and retains the light yellow dust, so plentiful in that country, and also affords a lodgment for the fleas which abound in myriads there.

FROM an interesting account of the peculiarities of the oceans the information is obtained that, if a box six feet deep were filled with sea water and allowed to evaporate under the sun, there would be two inches of salt left on the bottom. Taking the average depth of the ocean to be three miles, there would be a layer of pure salt 200 feet thick on the bed of the Atlantic.

IN balancing his figures one day a bank clerk found a shortage in his cash in the sum of one hundred dollars. He carefully went over his figures and cash several times, but was unable to discover wherein the mistake occurred. Finally upon very close examination, he perceived that one of his cipher had been transformed into a figure nine by an eyelash that had fallen and adhered to it.

A CUSTOM that prevails among the women of Italy is the whitening of the line of parting in their hair by means of a piece of chalk. A group of three Italian maidens, recently arrived at Castle Garden, New York, were observed to draw from their pockets pieces of chalk and looking-glasses and then devote their earnest attention for some time to the whitening of their crowns.

A STORY of the remarkable loss and recovery of a diamond ring is related in a late number of a jeweler's journal: While cleaning a fish a fishmonger found in the intestines a diamond ring marked with the owners' initials and the date 1809. Upon investigation the ring proved to have been lost by a lady, while washing her hands in a railway car while crossing a bridge sixteen years previously. The theory is that a small fish seized upon the ring and that at some later time this small fish, while cruising about in the lake, fell a prey to the whitedish in which the long-lost ring was discovered. The fisherman received a generous sum for his honesty.

TRADE AND SCIENCE.

Licorice culture is reported as a successful experiment in Sacramento County, Cal., sixteen tons of roots having been recently baled by one grower.

IN the transmission of heat iron is said to be thirty times a more efficacious agent than glass. Next in grade is brass, then copper, glass ranking inferior to all.

IT is thought, on the ground of the Hungarian well successes, that hot water arteries well might be obtained almost anywhere if deep enough borings are made.

A METHOD of ascertaining the temperature of bearings is the application of a paint which when normal is red; as the temperature rises it grows darker and upon cooling regains its original color.

A NICKEL key weighing three ounces, the result of three years' careful study and patient labor of an English locksmith, has been invented, which is capable of opening 22,000 different patent lever locks.

A NEW ornamental veneer has been patented in which is employed the pith of cornstalks, the veneer being made by forming a layer of the substance upon a suitable backing for surfacing picture frames, panels and walls.

THE State of California, until recently thought to be almost barren of marble or building stone deposits, has developed a large store of marble of a superior quality, and of varied colors. Inyo County is the seat of the deposit.

AN observer of the smoking habit of the Germans, attributes it to the necessity of wearing spectacles, so common among that people. Special stress is placed upon cigarette smoking, by opticians, as being detrimental to eyesight.

A RIVAL of dynamite, in the form of a powder made from sawdust treated with nitric and sulphuric acids, has been introduced into the Belgian army. This wood powder is formed into cartridges by pressure and covered to exclude moisture.

A FOUR-horse-power yacht thirty-six feet long to be run by gas is one of the novelties of boat-building in Pittsburgh. The speed to be attained by this gas-boat will be twelve miles an hour, and the engine and machinery weighs but three hundred pounds.

IN four years nearly ten thousand electric motors have been brought into use in this country. We have to-day seven hundred thousand electric lights, great and small. Upwards of three hundred and fifty million dollars are invested in our electrical industries.

THE cost of the sand which goes into the manufacture of a box of common window-glass, containing the regulation fifty square feet of surface, is about five cents, that is, the box of glass consists merely of five cents' worth of silica, transmuted to a state of transparency.

MERCURIAL impurities may be removed by pouring into a bag of chamois skin and forcing the mercury through the pores, or by pouring into a paper funnel, which has at bottom an opening the size of a pinhole, and finally by washing with water. The mercury and water are put into a bottle, the stopper put in and the whole shaken. The water may be removed by the absorbing power of dry cloth and blotting paper.

THE "radio-micrometer" is the name of a new electrical instrument designed to register extremely slight changes in radiant heat. The inventor of this delicate instrument claims from calculations that when properly constructed it will register changes in temperature of one millionth of a degree. As yet no such delicacy has been attained, but the experimental instrument exhibited before the Royal Society, where the proportions of construction were shown to be not the best, was capable of registering the heat cast on a half-penny by a candle flame at a distance of 1,168 feet (a fifth of a mile) from it. This appears to be more sensitive than any instrument yet made for measuring changes of temperature.

Drunkenness or the Liquor Habit Positively Cured by administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless and will effect a permanent and speedy cure without the patient's knowledge. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge, and to believe the effect of their own free will IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For full particulars, address GOLDEN SPECIFIC CO., 185 Race st., Cincinnati, O.
